Subject: Polyethylene Prices

Dear Customer:

In a continued response to increases in both ethylene feedstocks and export activity, our polyethylene vendors have announced a price increase for the February timeframe.

As a result of these resin increases, Spartech Plastics will increase the selling price of all sheet and rollstock products by $0.07 per pound effective with shipments on or after February 1, 2010.

We continue in our efforts to minimize the impact of the magnitude and timing of these increases. As always, we will keep you informed of any changes to these amounts as more information is made available.

Sincerely,

Thomas M. Gavinski
