Subject: Polyethylene Prices

Dear Customer:

Recently our resin suppliers informed us of their inability to obtain sufficient ethylene supply due to extraordinary market conditions. This has caused our suppliers to put us on sales allocation in many instances.

As a result of these resin increases, Spartech Plastics will increase the selling price of all sheet and rollstock products by $0.05 per pound with shipments after April 1, 2010. This is in addition to the $0.08 per pound increase effective in March, the $0.06 per pound increase effective on or after February 21, 2010 and the $0.07 per pound increase effective on February 1, 2010.

We continue in our efforts to minimize the impact of the magnitude and timing of these increases. As always, we will keep you informed of any changes to these amounts as more information is made available.

Sincerely,

Thomas M. Gavinski
